reciting the goddess presents the first critical study of the svasthanivratākatha svk a sixteenth century hindu narrative textual tradition the extensive svk manuscript tradition offers a rare opportunity to observe the making of a specific distinct hindu religious tradition jessica vantine birkenholtz argues that the svk serves as a lens through which we can observe the creation of modern hinduism in the himalayas as the text both mirrored and informed key moments in the self conscious creation of nepal as the world s only hindu kingdom in the late medieval and early modern period birkenholtz mines the literary historiography that is contained within the svk text itself chronicling the text s literary and narrative development as well as the development of the svasthani goddess tradition she outlines the process whereby the svk gradually transformed into a purana text and became a critical source for nepali hindu belief and identity she also examines the elusive character of the goddess svasthani whose identity is tied to the pan hindu goddess tradition and the representation of women in the svk and the ways in which the text influenced local and regional debates on the ideal of hindu womanhood reciting the goddess presents nepal s celebrated svk as a micro level illustration of the powerful ways in which people place and literature intersect to produce new ideas and concepts of identity and place even in a historically non literate culture rituals of ethnicity is a transnational study of the relationships between mobility ethnicity and ritual action through an ethnography of the thangmi a marginalized community who migrate between himalayan border zones of nepal india and the tibetan autonomous region of china shneiderman offers a new explanation for the persistence of enduring ethnic identities today despite the increasing realities of mobile hybrid lives she shows that ethnicization may be understood as a process of ritualization which brings people together around the shared sacred object of identity the first comprehensive ethnography of the thangmi rituals of ethnicity is framed by the maoist state civil conflict in nepal and the movement for a separate state of gorkhaland in india the histories of individual nation states in this geopolitical hotspot as well as the cross border flows of people and ideas between them reveal the far reaching and mutually entangled discourses of democracy communism development and indigeneity that have transformed the region over the past half century attentive to the competing claims of diverse members of the thangmi community from shamans to political activists shneiderman shows how thangmi ethnic identity is produced collaboratively by individuals through ritual actions embedded in local national and transnational contexts she builds upon the specificity of thangmi experiences to tell a larger story about the complexities of ethnic consciousness the challenges of belonging and citizenship under conditions of mobility the desire to both lay claim to and remain apart from the civil society of multiple states and the paradox of self identification as a group with cultural traditions in need of both preservation and development through deep engagement with a diverse cross border community that yearns to be understood as a distinctive coherent whole rituals of ethnicity presents an argument for the continued value of locally situated ethnography in a multisited world cover art lost culture can not be reborn painting by mahendra thami darjeeling west bengal india
